HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

WHEREAS many state agencies, colleges and universities are involved in coastal programs and coastal research; and,

WHEREAS the state should receive the maximum benefits for its tax dollars; and,

WHEREAS there is great public and private interest in the coastal resources of this state; and,

WHEREAS problems of sand dune protection and subsidence have been addressed by previous legislatures; and,

WHEREAS the maintenance of a proper ecological environment of the bays and estuaries of Texas and the health of related living marine resources has been declared to be the public policy of this state; and,

WHEREAS coastal hazards threaten the lives and property of the citizens of Texas; and,

WHEREAS the barrier islands are an important asset of this state; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED, by the House, the _____ Senate concurring, that the Natural Resources Council shall study and recommend to the Governor, before the next session of the legislature, whether additional legislation is needed on the problems of subsidence, or on the protection of sand dunes, barrier islands, peninsulas, and other coastal areas; and, be it further

RESOLVED, that the Natural Resources Council shall study and on the basis of available information recommend to the Governor, before the next session of the legislature, the freshwater, sediment, and nutrient standards which should be assured to each of the state's bays and estuaries; and, be it further

RESOLVED, that the Natural Resources Council shall recommend to the Governor, before the next session of the legislature, methods to assure proper distribution of water for upland and coastal needs during times of drought; and, be it further

RESOLVED, that the Natural Resources Council shall study and recommend to the Governor, before the next session of the legislature, how best to give notice of coastal hazards to owners and purchasers of coastal property.
